Public and Permanent: Online Safety for Students and Parents

On November 19th, Logan Elm students in grades 5-10 heard the presentation "Public and Permanent" by Richard Guerry from the Institute for Responsible Online and Cellphone Communication, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to helping Digital Citizens use technology and the power of Public and Permanent™ to open windows of opportunity - not close them. Students learned ways to protect their personal information while using cellphones, apps and online games.

During the evening session for parents and the community, Richard detailed ways communication tools can be positive while explaining how "oversharing" of personal information can bring negative consequences.

Pickaway's Second Grade presents PBL projects

At the November Board of Education meeting, Second Grade students from Pickaway Elementary presented their Problem Based Learning projects--creating a new flag for the Pickaway County Visitors Bureau.

Students and teachers explained the research process as students visited several locations in the county to learn about the history of the county, famous citizens of the county and current agricultural and industries in the county.

Students then created rough drafts of their flags, critiqued and improved their flags and created their final designs. Students are now working on writing and perfecting their presentations, which will be made to the Visitors Bureau staff in the near future.

Construction Technology Class Update

Mr. Gary Mitchel's Construction Technology class has completed the framing of their current pole barn construction project.

The class was recently featured in TechDirections magazine. You may access the magazine here. Mr. Mitchel is featured on the cover and the article begins on page 22.
